Rev. And Mrs. Carne Given Fine Reception

Last Friday evening in the vestry of the Trinitarian Congregational Church a welcome was given to Rev. and Mrs. W. Stanley Carne which was attended by a large number of members and friends of the congregation. The vestry had been arranged with rugs plants and flowers into a home atmosphere and as people arrived the Deacons of the Church presented them to the honored guests. Those in the receiving line beside the Rev. and Mrs. Carne, were Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Moody and Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Coe. After the guests had been introduced, Dr. Coe extended greetings to the new pastor. Mr. J. S. Sawtell of Gorham was introduced and spoke of the pleasant relations sustained with the pastor at Gorham. Rev. Charles C. Conner brought the felicitations of the South Church and Mr. William R. Moody in well chosen words wished for the pastor and his family every satisfaction in his forthcoming labor.

The affair was in charge of the entertainment committee of the church consisting of Mrs. C. M. Steadler, Chairman, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. W. P. Stanley, Mrs. M. D. Birdsell and Mrs. E. F. Frary.

During the reception music was provided by the Mount Hermon musical trio consisting of piano, violin and cello under the direction of Prof. L. W. Ellinwood and Prof. J. J. Lawrence rendered a solo. The Deacons of the church acted as a Reception Committee and the ushers made all feel at home and served the refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Carne are now domiciled in the Pattison home on Birnam Road and already are beginning to feel at home among us.

County Brotherhoods To Meet At Orange

The spring meeting of the Franklin County Men's clubs and Church Brotherhoods will be held in Central Congregational church at Orange on Tuesday evening, April 26. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock. The speaker of the evening will be Rev. Claude Allen McKay, pastor of Faith church, Springfield. A great gathering of men is anticipated.

Streams Hereabouts Stocked With Trout; Fishing Season Open

The fishing season for trout is now open in the state and the local mudders who have secured their licenses from the town clerk will be out a plenty along the brooks and rivers. The waters have been generously stocked by the state largely from the state fish hatchery at Montague although some came from the hatchery at Sunderland. In the list of waters stocked are found the following in our immediate vicinity: Dry brook in lower end of Gill, 600 fish; Wright brook, Northfield, 300 fish; Bolton brook, Northfield, 300 fish; Wana-macker brook Northfield 300 fish; Four mile brook Northfield 600 fish; Warwick brook Northfield 1000 fish. There ought to be plenty of fish in these waters for all for some time to come.

The majority of the trout are the common brook trout, the speckled beauties of every fisherman's boyhood days. They have been distributed in streams in every corner of the state.

The legal length of trout to be taken, brown, brook and rainbow is six inches; the daily bag is 15, aggregate of all kinds.

Chief Game Warden Carl G. Bates in charge of law enforcement has outlined a few rules for fishermen in general.

Obey the fish and game laws. Be sure you have a sportsman's license before you start out or you'll find your fishing not only expensive but will lose your right for a year to hold a license.

Obtain permission before going on to some other person's brook. In this way you will not be put off. If the brook belongs to someone else and is worth fishing, it is worth getting that permission.

All streams not posted by their owners are open for trout fishing with the exception of the Deerfield river where special regulations are in effect.

Extra game wardens will be patrolling the fishing grounds and violators of either the fish and game laws or the trespass laws will be severely dealt with.

Rummage Sale To Aid Summer Camp

Plans are under way to hold a rummage sale at Green Pastures the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Pitt on Saturday, May 21st for the benefit of Virginia Fresh Air Camp. A committee of ladies, of which Mrs. W. R. Moody is chairman, has the matter in charge. Hats, dresses, shoes, books, toys and other saleable and useful articles are solicited. Tea will be served from 2 to 6 o'clock. It is expected that Virginia Fresh Air Camp will entertain about a hundred children from New York again this summer and that Northfield will co-operate in supporting the institution.

Jersey Cows Quality From Tenney Farm

Word has been received from the American Jersey Cattle Club that "Spotted Owl," a Jersey owned by Mr. Charles S. Tenney of Northfield Farms has qualified for a medal award of the organization. Her record is 654.34 pounds of butterfat in 18,394 pounds of milk in a year; also another Jersey "Victoria Sweet Maiden" produced 660.32 pounds of butterfat in 12,537 pounds in the year. These are high honors and reflect much credit to Mr. Tenney and his herd at Northfield Farms.

Baseball Assured; Northfield To Have Team

An enthusiastic meeting of the Northfield Athletic Association was held Monday evening in the Director's room of the Northfield Printing Company. Mr. Lawrence Lazelle presided as President, Harlan Atwood, vice-president and Mr. Frank W. Williams was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The Advisory Board designated consists of Messrs. Lawrence Lazelle, Philip Porter, Rollin Shearer and Lester Polhemus. The advisory Board were authorized to select a manager and to enlist membership in the Northfield team. From the large number of available players it looks as if Northfield will start the season in an enthusiastic way to the delight of the fans. It is hoped that again all games may be played on the Home grounds and that Wednesday of each week throughout the season will provide the sport which means so much to many. Mr. Dean Williams and Mr. Harlan Atwood will be designated to attend to all publicity.

Clinic Much Appreciated

The diphtheria toxin-antitoxin clinic, held under the direction of Dr. Alvin Wright at the town hall last Saturday morning was well attended and some 88 children were inoculated.

The numbers were larger than at any preceding clinic of the kind held in the hall.

The desire for immunization against the spread of dangerous contagious diseases seems to be spreading according to Dr. Wright, and parents are coming to realize the value of such clinics. Dr. Wright was assisted in the clinic by the district nurse, Miss Shirley Towne, and others who have had nurse's training and volunteered their assistance. The next clinic of the series will be on April 23 at the same time and place.

In speaking with a representative of The Herald Dr. Wright emphasized his satisfaction with the appreciation of the public in the clinic and desired that to inform those who attended that "should any reaction occur when the inoculation was given there should be no alarm."

EDITORIAL

Although heading for a Presidential primary, politics in Northfield seem to be rather docile just now. The special town meeting to be called may engage an interest for some but the trust of our people shown toward our representative body the Board of Selectmen is such that it is assured the town will be given an honest and economical administration and they, the selectmen, will not betray the confidence of the people. It is a high degree of satisfaction when any community is certain of the proper handling of its affairs. There will always be some whose superb wisdom will run counter to those in power or who would vaunt their high intelligence, but the mass of people here will rest content and satisfied—only to attend the town meeting in fulfillment of their responsibility and to lend added support and approval to the activities of the officials. In the matter of presidential delegates, Northfield will vote its preferences without prejudice.

The growth of schools and colleges especially for young women has been astounding and the development of our own Northfield Seminary has been satisfactory though conservative. There are many however who hope that in the coming years, the Seminary may be so prospered as to provide for at least a thousand students instead of the six hundred and fifty now enrolled. A school of such size could be proportionately as well maintained as a school of the present dimension and would care for the larger number of our young women who should receive the benefits of the Seminary standard of education. Money only will provide for just such an expansion and it is hoped that it may be forthcoming. The Northfield Campus is one of the most attractive of college grounds and affords ample space for the erection of new class and dormitory buildings. From an announcement made in Northampton the Smith College management is a firm believer in the expansion program and they are announcing contemplated plans for fourteen new buildings at a cost of $3,180,000. Of these buildings seven are to be dormitories. All power to this college of over 2100 women students, the largest college for women in the country.

It is hard to believe, but it is a fact, that one-fourth of our income now goes for taxes and much is extravagantly expended. This accounts for the tax question now being uppermost in the minds of the people. The fact that we are spending an average of one-fourth of our income in the support of government and for services, real and imaginary, which we formerly got along without, or performed for ourselves, is receiving more attention these days than it did when money was plentiful and we were spending freely.

Dr. William Lyon Phelps of Yale University, was preaching in the Yale Chapel recently to a student group, when he said this about church membership:

"The most fatal result from any line of action is no result. That is what is wrong with the Church today. It ought to cost more to get into it, more to stay in it, and there ought to be more difference between church members and others. Every member, for example, should give more money to church than he gives for membership in all his clubs put together. The men and women who do the most for religion are not its advocates, but its witnesses. Religion is best expressed in lives."

Prof. Lyons has uttered a terse statement with which many may not agree but the sentiment expressed is worth consideration.

Last Sunday one of the best series of programs given on the radio came to an end for the season—I refer to the offering of the Davey Tree Hour, always a satisfying list of high class selections that entertain, elevate and educate and with the ever-appealing words of Mr. Davy through which we have learned to "love the trees as living things." While we are tempted to brand so many programs as pure commercialism yet this one of the Davey Tree Hour passes beyond such criticism and with all listeners everywhere we hope for its early resumption.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

That persistent newspaper advertising is the best investment any business concern can make. Nothing can be compared with it to bring steady business, safety and security.

The success of any business depends upon the character of those directing it.

Business concerns who are successful have become successful by the aid of persistent, truthful advertising.

Progressive business men know that it pays to maintain quality and then tell the public about it.

Advertising is the best selling force in existence. It brings the business advertised before the public.

Persistent advertising means the honest telling of goods or service.

It is necessary for a business concern to carry quality in goods and service and to sell at reasonable prices.

Next, it is necessary to advertise truthfully and to continue to do so as no gas a business exists.

Business comes where it is invited and stays where it is well treated.

Newspaper advertising helps to meet outside competition more effectively than any other known method of securing business.

Center School Playground Plans Under Way

Recently the playground site at the rear of the Center School was surveyed by Mr. Harrington, Massachusetts State College engineer. He was brought here by Miss Mary Pozzi, recreational director for the state, and county club agent Paul Alger, who are largely responsible for the interest developed in the playground, and for the making of its equipment.

Plans were made to terrace the grounds, to avoid otherwise extensive filling, and at the same time to separate the different play activities. Mr. Harrington agreed to place the stakes, so that when his recommendations are received by the chairman, work of grading and scraping can begin at once.

The committee in charge of the playground project is Harry James, chairman, Mrs. Charles Kehl, Harold Bigelow and Miss Ethelyn Sheldon, principal of the school. The state and county advisors are giving their services as part of the college extension work, so that the entire fund voted by the town at the last town meeting for the making of the actual work.

Miss Pozzi also suggested that Mr. Davis, landscape architect from M. S. C., might visit the school, and plan ways and means of beautifying the school grounds when the playground has been completed.

The Poet's Corner

THE BROOK

The tireless brook through winter's snows
Pursues its course and onward goes
(or twig and stone, now left, now right,
It winds its way by day and night,
As if in haste to find the chance
To join the ocean's vast expanse.

The trees that grace its ragged bank
Like sentinels on either flank,
Stand stanch and steadfast through the years,
Dispelling winter's snow-bound fears
And giving forth the promise true
That soon the summer will be due.

The house that dots the distant hill
Now feels the winter's icy chill,
But soon the warming sun will come
And cause the snow to swiftly run
To join the rushing brook in glee
That now its action will be free.

How like the brook we Humans are,
We ever seek that goal afar
Where we shall merge our lives at last
In seas whose depths engulf the past,
Whose shores bid us our struggles cease
And live henceforth in perfect peace.

George Z. Keller

Editor's Note:—Mr. Keller the author, wrote this poem while visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Randolph last summer and has reference to the brook flowing to the rear of his property on Main street.

THE PHEASANT

Awake, awake, cheer up my dear—
Spring, spring, spring is near.
The pheasant, the pheasant—O what sight!
Comes again from winter's dark night—
Out from the dark firs into the light.

Firmly he treads the crystal snows.
His breakfast seeking from weeds he knows
Then down to the brook he gracefully goes,
Quaffing a drink from its crystal flows.

Grayish and brown, a beautiful sight
With touches of red in the clear sunlight,
Proudly trailing his long pointed tail
Over the snow's unbroken trail.

He always comes to give us cheer
When he knows that spring is near.
God's messenger of hope—when fuel is low—
He drives old winter with its blow.

Far, far away where icebergs grow
Then melt away in chilly flow—
Up where day is beginning to dawn—
The North's first glimpse of the year's new born.

The pheasant, the pheasant, the pheasant is here,
A herald of springtime, bringing cheer.
Awake, my sleeping daffodils
Robed in bright yellow ruffles and frills.

Do you feel the light weight over your heads?
As the gaudy pheasant silently treads?
Awake, awake, O earth and be glad—
Together rejoice—let none be sad.

The pheasant, the pheasant is here today,
Up, up my dear, up I say—
Cheer, cheer for spring is near.
Awake, awake, do you hear?
Spring, spring is near—near.

MOON DREAMS

The moon streams down on my lovely, lonely island;
And, as I sit upon my window seat,
I watch the native lovers
As they stroll along the beach;
Stars hang low and remind me of precious stones laid on a cloth of black.

Tis night on my Paradise Isle.

Clear is the air, slightly tanged with salt from a lazy sea;
And moonbeams dance upon the ripples of the water
As the surf throws itself defiantly up on the sands,
With a s-w-i-s-h that breaks through the stillness of the night.

Smoke rings curl carelessly from my dream pipe,
But are soon carried away by a gentle breeze
That makes the ambers glow beneath the ash;
I sit through the night 'neath tropic skies, and gaze up at the moon.

Oh, lovely moon—you seem to know,
That you cast a spell of love wherever you throw you radiant light.

I have ofttimes watched you hide behind a cloud, as lovers kissed in a moment of bliss,
And then come from behind it, to light up the fire in their dancing eyes.

And warm the passion in their burning cheeks;
I can see you smile, as though your task was complete, when they repeat, "I love you."

Oh, moon. Wm. B. Parker

HOME

I want a home in the hills
Where summer winds among roses blow,
Inspiring the birds to carnivals of song.
Where autumn comes, in colors bold,
Painting the trees, orange, red and gold.
Where winter winds, whistle a cold refrain,

The Activities of Mr. and Mrs. Robin

Mr. and Mrs. Robin are back again in town

They live in our maple tree, on the western lawn,
They come every summer to spend a time with me,

Bright and early every morning, sing songs of jubilee.

When they first arrive, so very fat and very red,

They fly about and sing for joy, like any newly wed.

Soon Mrs. Robin says, we've done nothing here, but rest

Let us get right busy now on our little nest.

She says to Mr. Robin, we'll go hunting string, Little twigs, leaves and grasses, almost anything.

We'll put each one in order, glue them all in place

Up in the tree-top, swinging out, into space.

Now says Mrs. Robin I will sit upon the nest,

You may bring me food, and I will do the rest.

Each day she lays a little egg, as blue as can be

You would just adore them, if you could only see.

Then she sits there day by day, and in the breezes swing,

Her lover always near by, to care and watch and sing,

But Mrs. Robin grows thin and pale, as the days go by,

For Mr. Robin sometimes forgets the food supply.

When the evening comes, he sings a rollicking song

Full of love and courage, for the dark night long.

Then they sit and twitter, What do you think they say?

Just wait a minute—they'll tell the secret perhaps today.

When the evening comes, he sings a rollicking song

Full of love and courage, for the dark night long.

Then they sit and twitter, What do you think they say?

Just wait a minute—they'll tell the secret perhaps today.

When the evening comes, he sings a rollicking song

Not Quite So Cold The Past Winter

Dr. J. K. Shaw, promologist at the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment station at Amherst reports that the fruit buds have come through the Winter in good condition; that the cold weather of March was favorable in that it held the buds back from development, and any subsequent cold weather will be less apt to harm them. Apparently there was no harm to the buds from the warm winter weather, according to Dr. Shaw.

The winter has set a record, he says, in that it is the only Winter in the 94 years that weather records have been kept at the college, when the temperature never dropped below zero. The closest that it came to that was on Feb. 15 and 16, when the thermometer registered three below.

The total snowfall for the past winter was 41 inches, compared with a normal of 48. Otherwise the Winter was normal, except for March which was exceptionally windy.

The Seniors

Northfield High is again ready to open its door to send out into the world the class of nineteen thirty-two. They have reached their goal. Through the long struggle of twelve years the treasure they seek is about to be given to them. Twelve years ago in a school room of the grades, this same class could be heard saying C is for cat, and D is for day. They have learned the alphabet; they have also learned to read and write. As the years go by, the treasure they seek, is always nearer, but only when they become seniors do they own it. Their first day of school gave them a big thrill. Mothers prayed as they sent them off to school on that first memorable morning, for they knew that many a hard knock was in store for them, but in spite of the knocks which they received unflinchingly, these boys and girls carried on. The black eyes of John and the reprimands of Mary by the teacher are now a thing of the past. Their last year in the eighth grade saw them preparing for graduation which was to be held in the new Town Hall. Their class was the first class to hold their promotion there. For their motto they chose "Onward and Upward" and they are surely following it. Their first year in high school brought another thrill to them. Four years in that institution of learning would bring them their diploma, their treasure for which they had worked so hard. Their last hour as a class is drawing near. The treasure they want they will possess. On their last night the key of the future will be given them and with this they will unlock the door of adventure.

Slowly, very slowly they will swing down the aisle of the town hall. As they go by, fond parents smile at them. Their cherished hopes and plans have succeeded. Their boys and girls are graduating and Northfield High sees another class depart from that building which heard their ringing laughter and joyous hails to their friends. They need no leader as they march along; each is his own commander. Friends see among the graduates Esther Schryer and Evelyn Haven. Both were authors in grammar school days. Perhaps they will contribute to the reading matter of our library in years to come. There is Alfred LaBelle was vice-president of his class in grammar school. Maybe he will be president. Who knows? Kenneth Leach once shocked the teacher and student body in grammar school by appearing in his first There are the red head twins. Evelyn of his class about three times. It may be he will be treasurer of the United States in LaBelle's cabinet. long pants. Kenneth has been treasurer and Esther Havercroft. They are the first twins to graduate together. Amelia and Helen Uriglewicz sisters are graduating together, this is another incident in the history of the school. Monica Szestowicki's acting is superb. She may be a second Marie Dressler. Helen Szestowicki may someday visit the old ruins of Rome and Italy which she so faithfully studied in Latin class. Raymond Kervian may be judge and settle the disputes between his classmates. Eunice Woodbury with her diploma may also become speaker of the House of Representatives. Frank Huber may choose for his life work a career of prize fighter. Mary Breinig may teach the children of her classmates. When Myron Johnson becomes an M. D. he can bandage the wounds of Frankie and his opponent. Dorothy Quinlan will play the wedding march for all her classmates. Edna Bistrek maybe town clerk. Grace Randall will watch over her classmates and to her they come for advice. Mary Podleski and Anna Saczka will become business women. Glenn Billings will be editor of a paper and keep his classmates in gales of laughter. Alicia Repeta may be a great actress and Elsie Tenney may become a woman rancher. These are our Seniors. We will wish them luck for we know that with diplomas they are sure to find much happiness.

Autos' Toll Is 13 During Past Week

Motor vehicle accidents last week killed 13 persons in Massachusetts, five more than in the preceding week and four fewer than in the same week a year ago, the motor vehicle department reported Monday.

During the week 58 persons were convicted of operating while under the influence of liquor and five drivers were jailed. There were 1533 licenses suspended or revoked, an increase of 376 over the preceding week and 48 more than in the same period last year.

Fortunately no serious accidents nor mishaps happened in the Northfield territory.

New Postage Stamp

Another new 2-cent stamp, this one to commemorate the 60th anniversary of Arbor day on April 22, is to be issued by the post office department. This stamp will be of the same size as the regular 2-cent stamp and printed in red. The stamp is surrounded by a narrow, white-line border, within which on either side rises a large tree with spreading branches that meet at the top in the form of an arbor. Across the top of the stamp in two curved lines are the words, "United States Postage," in white Roman letters. In a curved line inside the arch are the words, "Arbor Day," in red Roman. Across the bottom of the stamp in a narrow panel with solid background and white edges are the words, "Two Cents" in white Roman.

Directly above the panel on either side within a circle with white edge and solid background is the large numeral "2." Acanthus scrolls extend from the tops of the circles over the base of the tree. The central design of the stamp pictures the planting of a tree by a girl and boy, the former holding the tree in position while the earth is filled in by the boy. In the left background is a small house with forest trees extending to the right.

In a straight line below the central figures are the dates "1872-1932" in white Roman.

Center School Notes

Center School reopened Monday April 11, after a most welcome vacation.

The eighth grade have received their class pins. Everyone seems well pleased with his choice.

Many children are absent on account of illness. Howard Williams will not be back to school again this year on account of a serious illness. Howard's classmates and teachers are going to miss him. We hope to have him back again with us next September.

Another member absent on account of illness is Gershom Makepeace of the Eighth Grade. We hope Gershom will make a speedy recovery from his operation.

Ethel, Dorothy and Herbert Marcy have moved to East Northfield and are attending the Pine Street School.

Center School was very happy to welcome Miss Dalton back to her teaching.

The last of the children's plays was given April 8, when the Secret Garden was presented at the Greenfield High School auditorium.

This group of plays has certainly been a success. Many of the children of Northfield have had the privilege of enjoying these performances through the kindness of various town organizations.

We hope that next year will see these players back with us again. If any parent was in doubt about the value of these performances he should have attended any one play and seen and felt the enthusiasm of the children.

The following comments were written by children who attended the play.

"I liked 'The Secret Garden' very much, but I liked especially the part where Mary was learning how to jump rope. She made such queer motions and fell so funny that I liked to watch her." — Erma Smalley, Grade 5

"The part I liked best was when Mary heard Colin moaning and took a candle and found the boy. She sang him to sleep and then fell asleep herself by his bedside." — Wallace Richardson, Grade 6

"I enjoyed 'The Secret Garden' very much. It was all very good. One of the most interesting parts was where old Ben in his battered and dirty hat, caught the children in 'Secret Garden,' and also his surprise and pleasure when he saw Colin could walk and was not a hunchback." — Byron Haley, Grade 6

Kay Francis in "MAN WANTED" and Fay Wray in "STOWAWAY"

"Man Wanted," Kay Francis' first starring picture for Warner Bros., was especially written for her by an anonymous author, with her particular charms, talents and characteristics taken into consideration and given full play.

The story is laid against a background of wealth and luxury, calling for numerous unusual gowns and a display of dramatic talent.

The gowns were especially designed by Earl Luick, Warner Bros. costume designer, with Miss Francis adding her original ideas on many of them. The beautiful star definitely assumes the title of "Hollywood's best dressed woman," with her costumes in "Man Wanted."

This special story for Miss Francis concerns a rich young woman who finds idle society life too empty for her and turns to business as an outlet for her ambition. Her playboy husband turns to other women as a diversion and their marriage is dissolved, with the star finding her male secretary, portrayed by David Manners, more suited to her than her husband. The story of the beauty's social and business life is ideally suited to bring out Miss Francis' talents. "Man Wanted" is regarded as Miss Francis' most diverting picture to date.

You have no idea what commotion a stowaway can cause aboard ship—especially if a girl—and a pretty one—until you see the exciting drama of ships at sea, "Stowaway."

The story of "Stowaway" is one of romance and two-fisted action, dealing with a desperate little waterfront taxi dancer who seeks refuge from the persecuting law and pursuing men aboard a freighter, where a lot of other intrigues abounds. The young ship's officer who discovers the beautiful cargo takes her part, and in attempting to protect her from the villainous mate, is implicated in a serious charge of murder. Last minute revelations of a sensational nature afford an exciting climax to events and provides "Stowaway" with an ending of complete, stunning surprise.

Lovely Fay Wray is seen in the appealing role of the little taxi dancer who risks everything to escape from the sordid waterfront dance hall. Leon Waycoff, Hollywood's newest Adonis, has the virile role of the young officer with the understanding heart and the uppercutting fists, and Montagu Love provides the villainous opposition.

"THE TRIAL OF VIVIENNE WARE"

Hoot Gibson in "The Local Bad Man" will be seen as a young ranchman whose quarrel with the railroad makes it possible for two crooked bankers to put him "on the spot" for a train robbery.

The train robbery provides one of the most exciting sequences in the production, and was realistically staged at Chatsworth, California, where the motion picture company took over the station, a five mile section of track, and an entire train for the robbery.

Hoot Gibson one of the few motion picture stars to make the change from silence to sound with increased popularity, was born in Tekamah, Nebraska, and began life on the real range, a real cowboy. When the railroad and the fence line had changed the country, he entered rodeo competition, became world's champion for two years, toured the country with rodeos and was signed by Universal as one of their first big stars.

According to the voting list prepared by the registrars October 28, 1871, there were 180 (men) persons in town qualified to vote at the annual state election. Only one person of that number is now living, that being Andrew J. Packard, recently of Wendell Depot.

Erving Gets Report Of Minor Errors

As a result of the audit of the books of the town of Erving as sent to Chairman Charles H. Holmes of the Erving selectmen by Theodore N. Waddell, director of accounts of the state division of corporations and taxation, it has been found that, "The school superintendent did not retain a complete record of tuition bills sent out for collection and it is therefore recommended that, in the future, a record of such bills due the town be kept in order that revenue from this source may be checked."

The record of the sewer commissioners pertaining to sewer assessments were found to be incomplete.

It was found that no record of fines collected have been kept in the Erving or Millers Falls libraries.

The savings bank book representing the investment of the compensation insurance found in custody of the sinking fund commissioners was examined, the income and withdrawals being verified. It was noted that the town has made an appropriation for the fund at the annual meeting in 1932 although at that time the fund exceeded one per cent of the assessed valuation. Law pertaining to this is cited for the benefit of the town's officials.

is like a farmer's work. Cultivate a field, harrow and drag it as you will for a year—for ten years. Then quit for a single season and the weeds and brush will spring up and claim it.

South Vernon

The P. T. A. held splendid entertainment at the South Schoolhouse last week Tuesday evening. About 70 were present. A duet was sung by Ruth and Alma Dunklee. Solos were sung by Mrs. E. P. Edson and Miss Genie Edson. Readings were given by Mrs. W. N. Dunklee and R. E. Bruce followed by a business meeting. They voted to buy 2 1/2 dozen chairs for the schoolhouse and they also voted to join the P. T. A. town organization. After this, came the leading feature of the entertainment.

The two act play by all home talent entitled "Squaring it with the Boss." The characters in the play were, Jimmy Green, Elmer Scherlin; Mrs. Green, Eleanor Brown, Johnny the baby, Robert Strange; Mr. Dunn, the Boss, Warren Dunklee; Joshua, an old maid aunt, with her precious parrots, Maude Radway; Celestia, another old maid aunt, with her inseparable black cat Peterkins, Mildred Dunklee; Mr. Dunn's clerk, Jimmie Green; Mrs. Gould, who talked behind the scene. A black cat "Peterkins," and the parrot had a very prominent part in the play. The cat belonged to Alma Dunklee and was well trained. Dainty refreshments of sandwiches and fruit punch were served. The play made such a hit and was a grand success in every way, that it was repeated by request, at the Vernon Town Hall, on Thursday evening, April 21 for the benefit of the P. T. A.

Quite a company of children with their mothers responded to Mrs. Loring Cowles invitation and met at her home last Saturday afternoon in honor of her little daughter, Jannie's 8th birthday. A fine social time was had and the children enjoyed the afternoon by playing games. Janie was remembered by several birthday gifts. Dainty refreshments were served.

Rev. D. C. Campbell of Boston, Mass., gave a very interesting talk on "Home and Foreign Missionary Work" last Sunday, at the South Vernon church, and he also talked to the children in Sunday school. In the evening after the song service a most interesting sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. George A. Gray on "Life's Golden Threads." Every look, word or deed is either a golden or a silver thread. The golden threads are our good deeds and the silver our bad deeds. Which Will it Be?" Mrs. Gertrude Gibson sang a beautiful solo, "Let Jesus into your Heart."

Next Sunday, the services at the South Vernon Church will be at: 10:45 a.m., Sermon by the pastor; 12:15 p.m., Sunday School; 7 p.m., Song service; 7:30 p.m., Sermon by the pastor; 7:30 p.m., Mid-week service at the Vernon Home. No choir rehearsals this week.

Miss Dorothy Gray went to Springfield last Saturday to visit with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Esther Reed took Miss Gray's place as organist and pianist at the church services last Sunday, both morning and evening.

Mrs. Frank Milkey and Mrs. F. S. Knight of Brattleboro, Miss. Helene Moore of Newton and her friend, Miss Ferry from Boston were guests of Miss Eleanore Bruce Monday.

Mr. Elijah Belden received a shower of cards on Monday in honor of his birthday anniversary.

A Parting Shot Of Winter Weather

Last Sunday the weather man brought a spell of winter but it didn't strike Northfield very hard. The Berkshire district caught it a-plenty and travelers and residents reported a fall of six inches of snow. Many accidents were reported by motorists over the "trail" and on Sunday night warnings were given not to attempt the highway passes.

The snow melted during the day and as the temperature fell during the evening the roads were a glare of ice. It was reported that 25 machines were stalled cross-ways in the road or in the gutters.

Employees of the state highway department started out with sanding equipment and until the sand was spread many were unable to move their cars. As far as could be learned there were none injured in the skidding mishaps.

A motor plow was sent down the mountain road between Bennington and Brattleboro Sunday after several automobiles had been stalled during the blizzard. The crew on the plow reported drifts three feet deep in some sections.

Central Vermont experienced freak weather Sunday that resembled March more than mid-April. Residents awoke to see snow falling. This continued until about 2 o'clock and at times was accompanied by a gale, making motoring hazardous. Surely it was a spring blizzard but Northfield and vicinity escaped except for the cold raw and windy squalls.

Good Testimony

One outstanding fact in the current depression is that poverty from drink is a negligible factor and that the tremendous army of the unemployed and down-and-outers seeking aid from the Salvation Army is almost entirely drink-free. This is the testimony of Col. George H. Davis, in charge of the Salvation Army Forces at Chicago. From October 11, 1930 to February 3, 1932, we helped 1,102,645 unemployed men. Of this number, we found 99.92% drink-free. Having nothing to do many of these men would have drunk to excess if they could get the liquor. I did not realize the small percentage of drinking men that pass through our doors until I personally checked it up.

The number of women coming to our doors with a tale of being ruined by drink is less than 1% of the entire number, whereas in former days it was a considerable proportion.

In our family welfare relief work in these days we seldom find need arising from the results of strong drink on the part of one or other of the parents whereas in the old days it was 90 out of 100 cases. In fact, poverty from drink has almost disappeared.

The old time drunkard, the wets to the contrary, notwithstanding, is gone. Before prohibition the Salvation Army would gather drunks by the truckload, and bus load from the moonlight, and park benches. Today one would have to search high and low in every American city to find at one time 100 men and women of the type the Salvation Army used to gather by the thousands under the rule of John Barleycorn."

You won't be able to say enough about "Specialized lubrication after you have tried it. The Morgan Garage Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

Masonic Pilgrimage To Washington

A Masonic Pilgrimage to attend the dedication of the George Washington Masonic Memorial in Alexandria, Va., will take place from May 10 to May 12. Masons of Athol, of Greenfield and of Northampton are now arranging special excursion rates and details of a "party trip" to which Masons of other Lodges are invited.

Plans for the dedication of the memorial, indicate that the occasion will bring together the largest gathering of Masons ever assembled at one time in the world. Tentative estimates indicate that there will be 30,000 men in line, while 50,000 or more members of the fraternity will witness the proceedings from the memorial grounds. The dedication will take place at one o'clock from a platform 100 feet square to be erected at the foot of the granite steps on the east side of the memorial. This platform will seat 1,000 and will be for the invited guests. The steps will be converted into seats for ladies and children. The platform will be so elevated that the entire ceremonies can be witnessed by the 100,000 spectators who are expected to assemble on the grounds and in the vicinity. Amplifiers will be placed throughout the grounds so that the entire proceedings can be easily heard. In addition, arrangements are being made for the broadcasting of the ceremonies by means of loud speakers placed at convenient places throughout the city.

The dedication services will be conducted by the Grand Lodge of Virginia, under direction of Most Worshipful Harry K. Green of Clarendon, Va., grand master of Masons of Virginia. A special ritual will be used. This ritual, which will follow in some parts the ancient ritual of the fraternity for the dedication of buildings, will include special portions relating to the life and services of Washington. In addition to the officers of the Grand Lodge of Virginia, the grand masters of the 13 original states will participate, and the grand masters of all the states are expected to be present. President Hoover, members of the supreme court, senators and congressmen, and several governors of states are expected to be present.

Prior to the dedication there will be a monster parade, starting at 9:30 a. m., under the direction of Gen. John A. Lejeune, former commandant of the United States marine corps. This parade will be made up of many sections and will be a brilliant and colorful affair. All branches of the United States armed forces are expected to take part. Naval vessels and airships will be in Alexandria for the occasion. In the line will be thousands of Knights Templar, Shriners, Prophets, Tall Cedars, Eastern Stars and members of other organizations, costumed in their attractive uniforms. Each grand lodge will be represented by their grand officers and each lodge will bear their distinctive banners. Scores of bands will enliven the parade and there will be several large choirs of Masons.

Just "greasing" isn't enough. We must lubricate every moving part thoroughly and correctly. The Morgan Garage Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

Mt. Hermon Items

The Board of Alumni Counsellors of Mount Hermon Alumni Association met in conference over last week end at Mount Hermon. An informal session with members of the faculty took place Saturday afternoon in Holbrook Hall followed by a business session. The group remained over Sunday and attended services at Memorial Chapel when President James L. McConaughy, '05, of Wesleyan University was the speaker. The members of the council are: President Frederick E. Newton, Andover; Harry Hayward, Philadelphia; Albert E. Roberts, Mount Hermon; George McEwan, East Northfield, Mass.; Atty. Gen. Warren B. Burroughs, Hartford; Gaylord W. Douglas, Springfield; Thomas E. Elder, Mount Hermon; Herbert P. Koepke, New York City; Albert C. Munyan, Duke University; Dr. Richard Ohler, Boston; Nelson L. Parsons, Hartford; George G. Rodgers, Worcester, Mass.; E. Leroy Saxton, Norwalk, Conn.; Dr. J. Ralph Scott, New York City; Ernest A. Yarrow, Haddam, Conn.

Last Friday evening the faculty met at Ford cottage, residence of the principal, to hear Gaylord W. Douglass, New England secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, speak on Lincoln.

At the chapel service Saturday of last week Frederick E. Newton, head of the mathematics department at Andover academy and president of the Alumni association, addressed the student body on the aims and work of the association.

President James L. McConaughy of Wesleyan University, who is a graduate of Mount Hermon in the class of 1905, spoke Sunday in Memorial Chapel on the subject, "Seeing the Halo on the Common-place Things of Life."

Taking his text from Exodus 2.3, Dr. James McConaughy pointed out the dejection that befell Moses in the desert after he had fled from his killing of an Egyptian. Just then, however, God spoke through the sage bush, the most common-place thing for Moses. His experience is not unlike ours today in that God's voice seems strongest in periods of depression.

The speaker declared that men today ought to see the halo in three places particularly. First, we should see upon our fellow men. Secondly, we ought to see the halo on the forces for good in the world. Thirdly, we ought to see the halo upon ourselves in the sense that God sees our highest possibilities.

On Sunday evening at Camp Hall, Carlton W. L'Hommiedieu of the Music Department gave a piano recital which was much appreciated.

Mr. Thomas E. Elder, dean of Mount Hermon school addressed the Rotary Club at Turners Falls recently at its luncheon meeting. He gave an illustrated talk on "A Travel Trip Through South America."

Patriots' Day at Mount Hermon was observed by an address in Memorial chapel by Rev. Johnson Haynes, pastor of the Congregational church, Hinsdale, N. H., who gave an address on "The Soldiers and Christ." Rev. Haynes served with the 26th Division in France during the war, and was wounded twice. Dr. Henry F. Cutler, the principal, presided.

Automobiles In Crash; Northfield Men Held

On the Millers Falls Road last Monday evening two automobiles crashed head on and both cars were badly smashed and had to be towed away. Three women were injured and two young men from Northfield were placed under arrest.

The accident occurred when a car owned and operated by Edward L. Bistrek of Northfield, going east crashed head-on with a car driven by Kenneth Sherman of Orange. Riding with Sherman were his wife, and Mrs. Eddy and Miss Sherman. All three women were taken by passing motorists to the office of Dr. G. H. Gould at Millers Falls, where they were treated for shock and contusion about the head and shoulders.

Motorcycle Officer James P. McHugh, patrolling the scene of the accident, placed Bistrek and his companion under arrest. Bistrek was charged with operating under the influence of liquor.

In district court at Turners Falls Wednesday, Bistrek pleaded guilty to drunkenness and the case was continued to April 27 for disposition with the other charge. Judge Jacobus filed a charge of drunkenness against William Phetteplace of Northfield, a companion of Bistrek, who also pleaded guilty. Bail was set at $300 for Bistrek.
